

ActivTrades extends its promotion: trade CFDs on shares with no commission until 31st January 2016

London, 13th January 2016 – We are barely into 2016 and ActivTrades' engines are already hot and revved. The season of giving is over, but not for ActivTrades, as the promotion on shares continues. Until the end January, ActivTrades' clients still have the opportunity to trade CFDs on shares without commission or data fees. The promotion was initially valid until 15th January, but given the great success it has been extended to 31st January 2016. ActivTrades' clients will be able to trade on the world's largest stock exchanges, including London Stock Exchange, NASDAQ and NYSE with no commission on orders or any fees to access the markets.

Traders have taken full advantage of the CFDs on shares offer and ActivTrades has given them the chance for another 15 more days. Clients can trade CFDs which offer full flexibility and allows traders to place orders in both market directions (long & short).

ActivTrades' standard conditions are already among the most competitive, with 0.05% commission and only 1 USD minimum, but this will not take effect until 31st January 2016. There are also no monthly fees for traders who want to access several stock markets offered by ActivTrades.

For example, in order to place an order to trade 100 shares, for a total of 1 300 €, the standard commission is 1 EUR to open (then 1 EUR more to close). These costs are not going to apply during this promotion. Moreover, if a trader places an order for a volume of 20,000 EUR, the benefit will be greater, with a saving of 10 EUR at the opening and 10 EUR to close, for a total of 20 EUR.

These savings will be even more beneficial on short-term trades, which are usually affected by commission.

Once the promotion expires, the standard fee structure will apply; commission will be 0.05% and monthly fees will apply as well.

The promotion is available to new and existing clients. To get involved simply visit our website www.activtrades.com and open an account with shares CFD.
