

ActivTrades, a leading independent broker that provides trading services, is proud to announce it has been awarded “Best Online Trading Services” at the 2018 ADVFN International Financial Awards.

The ADVFN award recognises and celebrates the best in financial products and services from across the financial industry, both nationally and internationally.

Of ActivTrades win, the ADVFN judges said: “ActivTrades aims to maximise its clients’ trading through a unique mix of superior value, diverse product offering, competitive spreads and excellent customer service.”

The award also recognises the benefit ActivTrades customers receive from fast execution every time they trade on the MetaTrader 5 platform, which is available on desktop and mobile.

Alex Pusco, CEO of brokerage ActivTrades said of the award “ActivTrades is dedicated to putting the needs of its customers first and to have that recognised by ADVFN makes us incredibly proud of all the hard work done at the company.”

“Our superior value, competitive spreads and excellent customer service are all part of our commitment to offering a first-class trading experience to our customers.”

The company has excelled over the last year welcoming several other highly-acclaimed awards including Best Forex Broker and Best Online Trading Services. The firm continues to grow, having recently added cryptocurrencies and exchange traded funds to their offering.

As part of its ongoing commitment to protect its global customer base, ActivTrades also doubled its client insurance to £1 million last year, at no additional cost to the customers, to provide further assurances to clients with significantly larger investments.
